

Trends in Managed Behavioral Healthcare: A Focus on Improving Depression Outcomes

This supplement to The American Journal of Managed Care provides information on trends in managed behavioral healthcare to improve outcomes in depression. The benefits of early and appropriate treatment will be discussed, as will newer interventions, such as the use of performance-based measures and patient empowerment techniques.

It is the policy of The American Journal of Managed Care to have all faculty who participate in programs sponsored by pharmaceutical organizations disclose any real or apparent conflicts of interest.

■ Faculty

Bill Anderson, PharmD

Director, Pharmaceutical Services
Health First Health Plans, Inc.
Rockledge, Florida

Aron Halfin, MD

Manager, Medical Director
Blue Cross Blue Shield of Georgia
WellPoint Behavioral Health
Atlanta, Georgia

■ Disclosure Statement

The following participants have declared no financial affiliations with pharmaceutical companies or corporate organizations:

Bill Anderson, PharmD

Aron Halfin, MD

Signed disclosures are on file at the office of The American Journal of Managed Care, Princeton, New Jersey.

Trends in Managed Behavioral Healthcare: A Focus on Improving Depression Outcomes

Funding

This publication was made possible by a grant from Wyeth.

The contents of this supplement may include information regarding the use of products that may be inconsistent with or outside the approved labeling for these products in the United States. Physicians should note that the use of these products outside current approved labeling is considered experimental and are advised to consult prescribing information for these products.