

Call for Papers!

The American Journal of Managed Care[®] (AJMC[®]) is seeking to publish more research about CLINICAL TOPICS and DISEASE STATES.

The journal is honing its mission to focus more on a range of therapeutic categories to help readers translate innovative clinical discoveries into improved health outcomes for patients. This renewed focus on clinical research aims to accelerate adaptation of new therapeutics, techniques, and technologies from the journal's pages to the clinical setting.

The clinical manuscripts sought by AJMC[®] will examine the health and/or economic impact of specific medical interventions on clinicians' practice or health plans' policies. Of particular interest are papers that compare the effect of a specific intervention with those of available alternatives, as these tend to be more useful and actionable for managed care organizations, pharmacy benefit managers, and other decision makers than purely descriptive papers.

Some clinical topics of interest include:

- Oncology
- Immunology
- Diabetes
- Neurology
- HIV/infectious diseases
- Respiratory diseases

AJMC[®] will still be seeking submissions on other managed care topics, such as the role of quality measures, the impact of health policy reform, and the effects of changing reimbursement models. To see a full list, see our regular call for papers.

Please visit the Submission Guidelines section of AJMC.com for details on formatting and other requirements and limit your manuscript's word count and graphic elements as outlined in the Manuscript Categories section. All manuscripts should be submitted through AJMC[®]'s online submission system at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ajmc>.

If you have questions or wish to speak to an editor, please email Surabhi Dangi-Garimella, PhD, (sgarimella@ajmc.com) or Laura Joszt (ljoszt@ajmc.com).
